											I spoke with the property owner about the complaint. The owner has video footage of the vehicle that's illegally dumping on it's property. They are going to turn the video over to Police. This is a police issue and I will let them enforce what needs to be enforced on there end. If the case comes back to my cue I will then address it from a nuisance standpoint but I advised the owner that it would be their responsibility to correct the violation. The police came out to the property and took a report, and the property owners are having the tires removed from the property.

Owner of vehicle was outside asked why I need to tag his vehicle. I told him is a safety violation having the vehicle on jacks. I explain the process and that if he needed more time he can request an extension. Resident requested I give him the orange tag. I explain that I need to place the tag on the windshield and he said "you will not be putting no tag on my vehicle". Owner was getting irate and I told him that I will be back to tag vehicle.
