I arrived at 7600 Old Plank Road for a check compliance call. Upon arrival I located several chickens confined in a coup. The owner was not at home. I made contact with the owner Michelle Beman via cell phone. I advised her on the issue and explained the importance of having a permit for livestock. I will be mailing her a permit application and I put the call in pending for me to come back in three days to do an inspection.

I responded to a check compliance at 7600 Old Plank Rd, in reference to a permit inspection. Upon arrival, I made contact with the livestock owner, Michelle Beman. I was shown to the backyard, where there were 90 birds on the property. There are currently three large chicken coops (10ftx20ft) in size, where the chickens and guinea hens are being kept. The coop and runs are very clean and offer plenty of space for the birds to roam. There is a second smaller coop (8ftx5ft) that holds 30 Quail. This coop is also very clean and spacious. The quail will be moving to a bigger coop that is currently under construction. Ms. Beman owns a total of 18 acres, and there are currently no neighbors in the area. The coops are within legal limits.

Mrs. Beman came in today to pick up a report, she stated that a police officer informed her that her family member made the complaint, and she was looking to get the name on the report as proof that he had called in, so the lawyer could add it to a case. She was upset that the call was marked as anonymous, and stated that she had bought security cameras to set up on the property. I gave her a copy of the report, proof read by supv. Morrison
